NEWS ITEM 9 June 2009

Today, CityCAD celebrates its first birthday. We'd like to extend a huge thanks to all of our customers, newsletter subscribers, beta testers and others. CityCAD would not have been possible without your continued interest and support. Special Offer

To mark the occasion, until 30 June we're offering a special deal - whenever you sign up to any commercial (non-educational) licence, we'll offer two extra installations completely free of charge.

This means you can give a copy to a colleague, or install another copy on a second PC or laptop.

Also, if you're an existing commercial subscriber, we'll offer you two additional installations completely free of charge, which will be activated for as long as your original licence (eg. if you have a monthly subscription, then your two additional installations will be activated until you cancel your monthly subscription).

You can contact us on sales@holisticcity.co.uk if you have any queries. To get your additional licences, simply install CityCAD on the second and third PCs and enter your existing licence number. Click 'Email Activation Code Request' and send the email. The different computer ID in the email will tell us that you are installing on another PC and we can send you activation details for that PC. CityCAD 1.6.6 available for download

At the end of last week, we released version 1.6.6. This now includes compatibility with 64-bit systems, and includes several minor bug fixes and patches.

If you are an existing subscriber, please download and install this latest version. Your licence will not be affected. As always, if you have any queries please contact support@holisticcity.co.uk

If you haven't yet tried CityCAD, click 'Get Your Free Trial' below and activate your 8-hour free trial. If you have tried an earlier version of CityCAD, but your free trial has expired, contact us at sales@holisticcity.co.uk before 30 June and we can give you a 7-day extension so you can try the latest version.
